

Jenkins Reelected President Of American Youth Hostels At Meeting Of Directors

EDWARD C. JENKINS, of Buck Hill Falls, has been reelected president of American Youth Hostels. At its annual council meeting held at LaAnna, AYH chose Mr. Jenkins for a second term on its board of directors, which in turn elected him to its highest office. He has previously served AYH as executive vice president.

Mr. Jenkins is active in civic affairs in Northeastern Pennsylvania, being past president of the Pocono Mountain Vacation Bureau and of the Pocono Rotary Club. He is

Pooch-Of-The-Month

The New York Public Library has altered a long standing rule. It has decided that dogs may hereafter be admitted to its sacred precincts. Up to now, they've been parked outside, even on the coldest days.

The library isn't giving the dogs free rein, though. Their masters have to keep them on leash.

Of course, the new arrangement will be nicer for the dogs. Maybe the library figures it will be better for their masters, too.

Is It a Losing Battle?

In the beginning, the Eisenhower Administration made a surprisingly effective stab at balancing the budget.

By some fast and strenuous effort, many billions were whacked off the Government's sky-high spending level.

Even so, the Administration had a deficit of more than $3 billion last June 30, and estimates an even bigger deficit next June 30.

Now Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey despairs of getting a balanced budget even by 1956. And, meanwhile, some members of the Administration, such as Foreign Aid Boss Stassen, are talking about new or larger spending projects.

There are other problems, too. Next year's income will sag as a result of last year's tax cuts. And some leaders of the Democratic majorities which will take over Congress in January are advocates of greater spending in some fields.

Pretty homey setup, reading with the dog at your feet. It wouldn't be surprising to see some of the hounds trotting in with their masters' slippers between their teeth.

Some delicate questions of library decorum may arise. Since signs reading "Silence, no barking, please" are not likely to make much of an impression. What happens when a few canine yipes break the august stillness? Will the library throw out just the dog, or the master, too?

Well, we'll just agree it takes a lot of doing to get income and outgo in balance—in view of the debt, the cold war and all the obligations to which the Government has got itself committed.

But one of the foundations of a strong national economy, which is essential to a strong nation, is a sound Government financial policy. And no policy of deficits is sound. So whatever doing it takes to get a balanced budget we think is more than worth the effort. We hope nobody in Washington gets to thinking of this as a losing battle.

Why Wait?

Monroe County, along with the rest of the communities of the nation, will participate in the campaign to make Dec. 15 a safe driving day—a day on which nobody has any accidents.

The program is being sponsored by the President's Action Committee for Traffic Safety, and is worthy of every attention it is getting.

But we ask: Why wait? Why Dec. 15? Why not now? The time to stop killing and injury from highway and other accidents is right now.

Take seriously the Dec. 15 campaign, but remember, too, that unless adherence to safety rules improves a lot, a good many persons won't be around to take part in the observance of safe driving day.

George Sokolsky Says...

Widening Split In GOP Ranks Not Likely To Mend Easily; President Irks Politicians

The McCarthy censure being over, it is possible to see some of the effects of it in perspective.

The Republican Party is again split between the Traditionalists and the Modernists. The latter, prefer to call themselves Middle-of-the-Roaders. The Traditionalists are Republicans who believe that a two-party system is beneficial to the country and that each party must have a clear-cut and distinctive program, so that by debates in Congress, the people can be kept informed on public issues. With variations, this struggle has been continuous since the split between Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft which culminated in Taft's defeat in 1912.

In the McCarthy censure, the Traditionalists showed a strength of 22 votes, excluding McCarthy who did not vote; the Compromisers had 23 votes excluding Senator Wiley who went to Rio for the occasion. On appearances, this vote had to do with Joe McCarthy; basically, it was a question of the control of the Republican Party and on that issue, the party split right down the middle, evenly balanced. An identical split exists in the Republican National Committee. It exists in many states.

For instance, in New York State, the Dewey element is seeking to recover from its defeat at the last election. In terms of party organization, it is not possible to say that the Dewey control is already vitiated but new leadership is forming and it is Traditionalist leadership.

On a local level, the great White House statesmen, Paul Hoffman and John J. McCloy, mean nothing. What does count is that an election has been lost and that appointments and jobs go to the Democrats. The White House is far away from a state capital. The same is undoubtedly true in every state where the Republicans have been defeated. The White House cannot help in any of these situations, unless it stepped in to rebuild state organizations, poured patronage on heavily, and built a new organization which would be resisted by most Republicans. This has been tried by the various Eisenhower Clubs, which consist mostly of former New Dealers who now prefer Eisenhower to the Democrats.

During the first half of the Eisenhower Administration, professional Republicans who were disaffected blamed the White House staff, particularly Sherman Adams who acts as a chief-of-staff, as though the White House were an Army General Staff. They blamed C. D. Jackson who was an administrative assistant dealing with psychological warfare. Then they blamed Max Rabo, an administrative assistant who has risen rapidly to a newly-created position, secretary to the Cabinet. Then they blamed numerous "old friends" of the President, Paul Hoffman, John J. McCloy, General Julius Clay, and even Dr. Milton Eisenhower.

Blame whomsoever they may, the issue could not be dodged that important Republicans have grown increasingly irked by their relations with the President. Never before in our history have the leaders of a political party found their accesses to a President—a member of their own party—so blocked that it practically always lacks privacy. This one factor is the most discussed by Republicans. They cannot reach the President's mind. To it, they attribute their defeat in the 1954 campaign.

The present split will not heal readily. It is too fundamental. It involves too many strong personalities. Whether any of those Republican leaders will join in a New Party will depend upon whether President Eisenhower will be a candidate in 1956. The New Party movement is spreading but has not jelled. At present, it lacks leadership. Its amateurish character was displayed at the Madison Square Garden rally for Senator McCarthy, the arrangements for which were inadequate for the occasion. It is not likely that a New Party can find political professionals to join it before 1956.

As long as the Traditionalists believe that in state and local politics they can hold their own, they will remain in the Republican Party but they will oppose President Eisenhower as though he were of the opposite party. While this condition exists, the Senate, in particular, will be in turmoil. The Traditionalists have as their leader, Sen. William Knowland. The Compromisers have no leadership in the Senate of equal stature. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, who is often mentioned as Senate leader, will not be able to effect a union between the two groups. The only man who might have been able to do that is dead.

The Once Over

The Television Review Board of the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters has assured Congress that it is taking steps against "excessively violent and lurid" programs. It announces that it has "notified all code subscribers to curb airwave shows with special attention to westerns, mystery and adventure films originally produced for the theater." (Wanna bet?) Pleading complete co-operation, against causes of juvenile delinquency is almost an annual event in TV and radio. Pupper and Mommer will once again draw up a chair and determine whether the 1954 promise will be another comedy routine or a serious program.

Through TV screens, crime and horror routines get pumped into living rooms as never before possible through any medium. Two facts are now in as much contention as the moon's dust. Gaudy and lurid films are sent so many crime programs that she is no longer horrified by the thought of a crime the million on the noggin with a chair for delivering the milk late. Many a prototype of Whistler's Mother can now shoot a poison arrow into daddy for not offering to wipe the dishes. (We know a grandmother, for years the kindest of women, who, thanks to airwave crime programs, reaches for a jagged bottle, a knife or a table leg the moment she is crossed.)

The pledge to give special attention to Westerns and pre-video films puzzles us. Compared to some current airwave programs, the Westerns are nursery stuff. Not even the small fry take the Westerns seriously. They are mere portrayals of "close but no cigar" marksmanship. In a dozen cowboy films there is less violence than in any two current "detective" shows. Through the TV horror programs a kid can learn more criminal routines in a month than he could in ten years in direct association with mobsters. Ya mean a crackdown on cowboy pictures is the answer!

The TV pledge is to halt "excessive violence." It seems to some parents that there is excessive violence everywhere but on the cooking programs and weather forecasts. There is even excessive violence in some commercials. We are especially tired of one in which a Hollywood hero mingles a cigarette testimonial with a fight routine barred as illegal except among tougher hoodlums. Do the airwave boys interpret "excessive violence" to mean:

1. When the horror element overlaps the mood of the sales pitch?
2. When the TV crime blueprint runs so long the commercial has to be hurried?
3. When the triple-slaying leaves the kiddies too peeped to pay attention to the sponsor's urgent appeal to them to eat his cereal products?

We have our own ideas of excessive violence. We think it should include some of Groucho Marx's insults to his guests, many top comedians' routines and in every action indicating a producer is going to put another panel on the air. (Boy, that's violence!)

The super Christmas tree in Radio City is up and we think it should be explored for lost decorations. Last season a man reported missing for weeks was found in the top of the tree still trying to find his way out of the ornaments. New York wants doctors limited to an hour's parking instead of allowed special privileges as at present...

My America —by Harry Boyd
Last Of Christmas Parties Signals Return To Normalcy

Comes now the gala season of the year, when every group of four or more people feel tradition-bound to throw a Christmas party.

Practically all clubs and organizations, whatever their avowed reason-for-being, sprout one of these Christmas-party traditions the very first year they are in operation. Usually they don't start calling it the "traditional" Christmas party until the second year, when a program committee that hasn't been any great shakes through the preceding eight or nine months sees a chance to redeem itself with one desperate effort.

The first year the program committee possibly thinks the party would really be fun.

The main purpose of Christmas parties, I gather, is to get everybody so tradition-worn by Christmas day that he can just barely wiggle and can't bear the sound of childish laughter in the house. That is what is known as catching the holiday spirit.

There are two important secondary purposes:

1. Christmas parties force men to take their wives someplace where they can dress up. They also provide a sometimes persuasive argument for buying the ladies some clothes different from the ones they wore the last time they dressed up. Not always.
2. Christmas parties afford husbands an opportunity to find out whether they can sneak through still another year on their old Junior Prom tuxedos. This is a variation of the satisfaction most men derive from seeing how many miles they can get to the gallon from a six-year-old jalopy.

In recent years still another alibi for Christmas parties has come to the fore. The club really ought to put on something to honor and entertain the young people-home from college for the holidays.

The Machiavellian logic behind this is fairly transparent. The young people can't gracefully avoid showing up at the party for a while to humor the old folks. Thus parents are practically sure of getting a glimpse of their own offspring sometime during the Christmas vacation.

Otherwise, but for being without the use of the family car, they might never know the young people were home.

Fortunately for all concerned, traditional Christmas parties are easy to plan and operate. The dining halls, ballrooms and lounges are already decorated with the traditional evergreens, holly and mistletoe—and have been since Thanksgiving. The traditional pick-up dance bands are loaded with traditional Christmas novelty tunes and prop sleigh bells.

And at the traditional moment the traditional Santa Claus can pop out in his traditional costume and ho-ho a few traditional witticisms for the delight of the traditional kiddies, who are home in bed and weren't invited to the party in the first place.

Then everybody can give the party the traditional quiet slip and go home bemoaning the traditional thanks that there are only two or three more sessions like this before things get back to normal.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

When he was a Harvard undergraduate, the late Robert Benchley resorted to this stratagem to get out of a jam. A course in international law had always been a headache for him, and he was stumped completely when this question appeared on a mid-term exam: "Discuss the arbitration of the international fisheries problem in respect to the points of view of (1) the United States and (2) Great Britain."

After due thought, Benchley wrangled a passing grade from an indulgent professor by admitting, "I am a trifle hazy about the points of view of the U.S.A. and Great Britain. I propose, therefore, to discuss the question from the point of view of the fish."

Robert S. Allen Reports
Washington Hears Chinese To Free Imprisoned Fliers

Washington, Dec. 9.—The eleven barbarously imprisoned American airmen will be released.

So will the four jet-fighter pilots, who shot down in combat and about whom the Chinese Reds were mysteriously silent when they announced their infamous sentencing of the other prisoners of war to long terms on trumped-up espionage charges.

All 15 military casualties of the Korean war will be liberated through the "good offices" of Russia.

That is the inside word which top Washington authorities have received from a foreign government that has particularly well-informed diplomatic ties in the Iron Curtain empire.

This source has also reported that another of the original 21 American defectors has died—leaving 19 remaining.

The latest death occurred in Hungary. According to this information, the former POW, who went over to the Communists, was killed as a result of either being pushed or accidentally falling from a speeding train. The other defector expired in China last fall.

The secret Moscow-Peiping scheme on the lawlessly-detained American airmen is described as follows:

These military prisoners of war are being used to further the Kremlin's propaganda offensive to convince the free world that the new Soviet rulers genuinely want peace and "co-existence." So these helpless Americans are, first condemned by the Chinese as blackguards and spies, and then the Russians generously "come to the rescue" and liberate them.

An appealing act that the Reds can exploit to the utmost, especially in the Christmas season.

It is being pointed out as highly significant that the handling of these tragic POW has been a series of obviously carefully-planned moves.

First, for more than a year after the Korean truce which specifically required the repatriation of all prisoners of war, the Chinese would disclose nothing about the 15 airmen. But last August, during the Geneva Conference at which the Indo-China cease-fire was arranged, Peiping suddenly admitted holding the POW and agreed to permit them to write their families.

The Reds also offered to release them in exchange for admittance to the United Nations. That demand was flatly rejected.

The third phase was the "Chinese" recent radio announcement that eleven of the airmen, the crew of a destroyed bomber had been tried as spies and sentenced to long terms. No hint was given about the fate of the four jet-fighter pilots.

On the basis of the inside diplomatic report, the fourth development in this grim affair will be Russia's kindly intercession—in the interest of peace and good will!!! With a great flourish of propaganda hopla, the announcement will be made that through the Soviets' "good offices" the heinous charges against the prisoners are being remanded and they will be repatriated by the friendly Peiping moguls!!!!

That's the inside story, and it's getting a lot of consideration in the highest circles as very much worth watching.

Notes: While a blockade of the Chinese coast is not immediately likely, another retaliatory measure may be used to curb Peiping's intensifying aggressions. This is the seizure of Chinese ships, particularly tankers. They have a number of these vessels, obtained from Russia, and their loss would be a serious blow. Eleven additional fast and powerful patrol craft are being turned over to the Nationalists, who already have a considerable fleet of them. Also under consideration is their request for two more destroyers, of which they have nine.

Raffling comment — During last week's conference of mayors, Admiral Arthur Radford made a cryptic reply to a question that caused a lot of buzzing among the municipal officials.

Following is the unreported incident:

Near the end of a talk by Radford, he said, "It is our purpose to implement vigorously our program for the development and production of modern weapons systems, and when necessary to use whatever weapons are needed in defense of our security interests."

After pondering this significant statement, one mayor asked the head of the Joint Chiefs, who is credited with favoring a blockade of China, "Do you have anything in particular in mind?"

"Yes," answered Radford, "the defense of Formosa."

Inside Washington

Washington—in their differences over the issue of "peaceful co-existence" with the Soviet Union, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland are talking with one possibly fateful year in mind—1957.

That is the year, according to United States intelligence experts, in which the Soviets will achieve sufficient strength in atomic and hydrogen weapons to match America's own nuclear stockpile.

Knowland feels that, far from attempting to negotiate what Dulles calls modus vivendi—or method of getting along with—the Kremlin, the United States should redouble its preparedness effort in the atomic and other fields and become so strong Russia would not dare make war.

Dulles believes that such a massive emphasis on weapons production would but spur Moscow to an all-out arms effort of its own and start a grim race which would throw free world economy and diplomacy out of balance.

Squeeze Play—Fresh evidence has come to light on why John L. Lewis has been so silent for the past few years instead of staging his annual wage drive against the coal operators.

Actually, the incident in question received little notice. The Southern Coal Producers association, representing about one-quarter of total United States soft coal production, authorized its executive board to cancel the association's contract with Lewis' United Mine Workers of America on 60 days' notice.

SCPA has always claimed to be hardest hit by Lewis' hard bargains and has gone along with the rest of the industry only because it had to if it wanted to keep its mines open.

As everyone knows, the coal industry is in a bad way economically and the southern group apparently wanted to be in a position to act without delay if the need arose. Again, authorizing the executive board to cancel the contract may have been no more than a move to put a further deterrent in the way of any new wage demands Lewis might have in mind.

Board members made it perfectly clear that there is no immediate intention to use the new authority.

The United States has for more than 125 years been the greatest agricultural country in the world. The American farmer produces more wealth in two years than have all the gold mines of the entire world in the past fifty years.

'We're On Trial,' Chairman Altemose Cautions Democrats

293 Persons At Victory Celebration

MONROE COUNTY Democratic Party Chairman Jacob Altemose warned "the biggest crowd at a party gathering in 20 years" to act in the public interest last night.

The occasion was a victory celebration at the West End Fire Hall in Brodheadsville. There were 293 persons there, an official reported.

In a brief message at the close of the dinner, Altemose said:

"I ask all of you to remember this—that we are on trial now. Let's do a good job, for the people, in the next four years to entitle use to six, eight, 12 or 20 years more at the head of government."

The party chairman's comments followed an address—also brief—by Thomas P. McHenry, chairman of Philadelphia county commissioners.

McHenry urged his listeners to "pick a candidate for each office who is a believer in the principles of the Democratic party." He then went on to stress the importance of getting registration on the books for the next election.

"To win we must learn to work one for all . . . and to support the county leader, whoever he may be," McHenry said. "None of us are big enough to be elected without the organization."

It was a short meeting. The dinner began at 7 p. m.—although most of those present had assembled by 6:30—and the program was over at 9:15.

Claude Metzgar, former Monroe County prothonotary, opened the meeting with a prayer. Altemose then rose and introduced Stroudsburg attorney Leo Achterman who served as master of ceremonies.

Achterman—for many years a power in Monroe Democratic party plans—is a former State assemblyman who reminisced briefly about early party victories in the area.

He then introduced Van D. Yetter, successful Democratic candidate for State Assemblyman from this district. Yetter thanked all the workers and committeemen for their hard work in his behalf, and that of all party candidates, during the recent campaign.

Yetter asked all those present at the dinner to remember the plan to send a delegation of Monroe Countyans to the Jan. 18 inauguration of Governor-elect George Leader.

Buses will be chartered to make the trip, he said. Yetter called for a full delegation from this area.

Superior Court Judge Chester H. Rhodes, Stroudsburg, expressed his appreciation to all those who voted for him in the past election and in the 1934 and 1944 elections.

Rhodes congratulated Altemose on the county victory and his leadership as county chairman. "With victory comes responsibility," he said. The jurist pledged himself "as in the past, to make every effort to reflect credit on my party and to make the Commonwealth a better place to live in."

Rhodes noted that he carried Philadelphia by 128,000 votes in the recent election "without making one speech" in that city. He expressed gratitude to both Democratic and Republican members of the various bar associations whose endorsement of the "sitting judges" was "an immeasurable help" in winning the election.

Among those who were introduced, but did not make speeches, were Forrest Smith, Democratic State committeeman from this area; Stroudsburg Burgess Hal H. Harris; Mount Pocono Burgess Gerald Possinger and John Brislin, unsuccessful candidate for State senator.

Dr. Floyd Shafer, Stroudsburg, a native of Monroe County's West End, delivered a brief speech entirely in Pennsylvania Dutch. He was roundly applauded, a spokesman said.

Altemose introduced some of the "many persons" who had worked with him during the campaign. They included his wife, Kathleen; Harriet Carlton, Delaware Water Gap, secretary of the Democratic committee; Deputy Sheriff Henry McCool and Mickey Cincotta, committee treasurer, East Stroudsburg.

SELDOM VICTORIOUS, OFTEN DEFEATED—Monroe County Democrats had a chance to take a public taste of victory last night. At West End Fire Hall they turned out "the biggest crowd in 20 years" to hear these men talk over the November election and its meaning. Among the speakers: Superior Court Judge Chester Rhodes; Stroudsburg attorney Leo A. Achterman, master of ceremonies; Thomas P. McHenry, Philadelphia County Commission chairman; Van D. —chance passersby during the hours of the murder—testified they saw a bushy-haired stranger that morning near the Sheppard home.

Miss Hayes testified a 15-month affair with Dr. Sheppard was climaxed in Los Angeles last March when they shared the same bedroom for a week. Marilyn was staying with friends at a ranch near Monterey, Cal., 300 miles to the north.

Dr. Sheppard testified he went to California for graduate hospital work.

"And it was on that trip at that time that you met Miss Susan Hayes, as she testified?" Corrigan asked.

"Yes, sir," Dr. Sheppard replied.

Miss Hayes testified he called her for a date and that they were intimate that same night.

Dr. Sheppard said he got a new car purely by chance while Miss Hayes was with him. He and Marilyn had been on the lookout for a Lincoln Continental, he testified, and when he got a chance to trade even for one in California, he jumped at it.

As for a watch he gave Susan to replace one she lost with him, Dr. Sheppard said there was no direct difficulty over that between him and Marilyn. Other witnesses have pictured Marilyn as upset.

"Did you tell your wife that you had bought Susan Hayes the watch?" asked Corrigan.

"Yes, sir, I did," replied the defendant. "The only difficulty was that she insisted that I don't put it on my expense account and make my brothers pay for it. I thought I should."

Legionnaires Announce Plans For Big Christmas Program

THE AMERICAN LEGION drew up plans for a full-scale Christmas program last night.

In regular meeting at George N. Kemp Post Home, the Legionnaires decided to erect a Christmas tree on the Legion lawn.

Legion officials also announced that the Pocono Male Chorus will present a special Christmas cantata in the post home auditorium on Thursday, Dec. 23.

No admission will be charged for the program, officials said. The cantata will be presented at 7:30 p. m. on that day. All residents of Monroe County are invited to attend the program, Harold Burch, post commander said following the meeting.

Also on the schedule for the Dec. 23 Christmas program will be community singing in which the audience will be asked to take part. There will be a Santa Claus on hand to distribute candy to all children in attendance.

Preparations were also made last night for the annual game dinner to be held at the post home this Sunday, Dec. 12. The dinner will coincide with the meeting of the Eastern Judicial District.

An estimated 500 Legionnaires from all areas of Eastern Pennsylvania will attend the meeting, Burch said.

Legion members also discussed plans for the "Veterans Blood Bank" drive which will be held Tuesday, Dec. 28 in the Legion auditorium. In this drive the Legion is cooperating with all other veterans' organizations in Monroe County.

Working on the project, in addition to the Legion, are the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Marine Corps League, the Society of the 28th Division and the auxiliaries of all four groups.

Installation of Thaddeus S. Janusz Jr. to fill the unexpired term of junior vice commander was conducted at last night's meeting.

Earl B. Palmer gave a brief report to the membership of his part in the testimonial dinner held last Sunday at Plains. The dinner honored representatives of Legion posts throughout the area for their constant work in providing entertainment to hospitalized veterans.

Palmer was the delegate chosen by local Legionnaires to represent the George N. Kemp post at the dinner. During the past several years the East Stroudsburg post has planned and carried out numerous trips—often as many as four or more per month—to the Wilkes-Barre Veterans Hospital.

On many of these trips the local Legion post has sent along a band and a group of entertainers to pre-

George Clauder Dies At Home In Analomink

GEORGE CLAUDE, 61, of Analomink, and Queens, N. Y., died at 9 a. m. yesterday at Mountain View Rest, his Analomink home.

He had been ill three weeks. A power maintenance official for the City of New York, he had lived part-time in this area the past 17 years.

He was the son of George and Julia Gorski Clauder. A veteran of World War One he was of the Lutheran faith.

Surviving are two brothers, Fred Clauder, Analomink and Adam Clauder, Brooklyn, N. Y.; four sisters, Mrs. Kay Wain, Brooklyn; Mrs. Lillie Kromm, Long Island City, N. Y.; Edna Clauder, Analomink, and Mrs. Evelyn McInerney, Stroudsburg.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 1 p. m. at George West funeral home in Glen Dale, Long Island, N. Y. Interment will be made in Lutheran Cemetery, Middle Village, Long Island.

Daniel G. Warner, Stroudsburg, is in charge of local arrangements for the services.

Car, Truck Collide On Icy Street

A CAR and truck collided on slippery Ninth St., Stroudsburg, at 6:40 a. m. yesterday. There were no injuries.

Stroudsburg police said Blaine Smith, of Stroudsburg RD3, reported the accident some hours later. He did not have the name of the driver of the tractor-trailer, police said. Damage to Smith's car totaled several hundred dollars, police said.

The collision occurred at the intersection of Sarah St., while the car was going north and the truck south.

where they are taken into custody . . . The United States has foisted upon the General Assembly this shameful question. The Soviet Union takes exception to and will vote against the resolution."

Greece, Belgium, New Zealand, Thailand, Turkey and Australia announced support of the resolution. Ahmed Shukari, Syria, announced he would not vote to condemn Peiping but appealed for release of the prisoners.

Malik called attention to the fact that the Assembly's Special Political Committee today began discussion of a Soviet complaint charging the United States with aggression against Red China. He said the United States had brought up the case of the prisoners to divert public attention from many aggressive U. S. acts against Red China.

In the Special Political Committee, the United States said that the charges of aggression were absurd and urged the U. N. not to bow to the will of Red China—a "convicted aggressor."

Two Women Injured As Auto Skids

TWO WOMEN were injured when their car skidded and rolled over on Route 611 three miles north of Tobyhanna yesterday.

Florence Engel, 28, and Jean Allen, 30, both of Starrucca, were taken to Scranton State Hospital by a passing motorist. Both women were treated for forehead and scalp cuts.

A possible skull fracture was suffered by the driver, Miss Engel.

Mount Pocono State police said the car was moving south when it skidded on the sleet-covered highway, crossed the north-bound lane, struck an embankment and overturned. Both women were thrown out.

Dr. L. R. Furlong will be out of his office from Monday, Nov. 29 until Monday, Dec. 13.—Adv.

The office of Dr. E. J. Denning will be closed from Dec. 6 through Dec. 8.

East Borough School Board Has Election

A TREASURER'S report and election of officers for 1955 featured the reorganization meeting of the East Stroudsburg School Board last night.

Jacob M. Hill and Horace C. Walters were re-elected as president and vice-president, respectively. The law firm of Bensinger & Bensinger was named to act as solicitor for the coming year.

The report of the treasurer showed a balance of $6,483.57 for November and a sinking fund of $5,671.78. The board received its state appropriation amounting to $58,228.21. Tuition received from the various school districts totaled $13,361.18. The paid bills amounted to $4,052.89.

The board granted the use of the junior high school auditorium to the Exchange Club which plans to hold a play in January.

Curious Mailman Goes To Jail

BAYEONNE, France, Dec. 9 (AP)—A court sentenced Paul Fayet, 52, a postman, to eight months in prison today after finding that:

For 10 years he had taken five letters a day from his bag of mail. He picked them at random. The ones he found interesting he kept. The others he tore up in little pieces.

Motive? Not blackmail, not money, said the judge. Just plain curiosity.

TRACTOR FACTS for farm agents and 4-H Club leaders formed the base for a three-day Harrisburg conference this week. Among those attending were (left to right) Ray W. Reitz, Carbon County agent; Calvin Rex, Carbon 4-H Club leader; Harold Kreger, Kresgeville, Monroe County club leader, and L. D. Zimmerman, assistant Monroe County farm agent.

County Agents At Conference

HAROLD KREGER, Kresgeville, and L. D. Zimmerman, Stroudsburg, attended a three-day tractor maintenance conference in Harrisburg this week.

Kreger is 4-H Tractor Club leader in this area and Zimmerman is assistant Monroe County farm agent. They were among 105 club leaders and farm agents who attended the conference.

The training school was conducted by the Agriculture Extension Service in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Machinery Manufacturers and Farm Implement Dealers Association.

The Monroe County 4-H Tractor Club plans to organize fully in January. Enrollment is expected to double the total for 1953.

On their return from the conference Kreger and Zimmerman issued an invitation to all farm boys in the county to join the group. The club plans to hold approximately eight meetings during the winter and early spring months.

All meetings are held in the workshops provided by local tractor dealers. At each meeting a section of the mechanics of a tractor will be studied.

The slogan of the club will be "Care Saves Wear" this year. The primary purpose of the club is to promote safety and tractor care rather than repair.

THE FUTURE Homemakers of America met at the Chestnut Hill High School recently to elect a chapter mother and install the officers.

The meeting was opened by singing one stanza of My Country 'tis of Thee followed by the opening Ritual and Prayer song. At this time the officers were installed by Mrs. Mitchell, FHA advisor as follows: Ann Dorshimer, president; Marion Koehler, vice president; Arlene Serfass, secretary; Jean Werkheiser, treasurer; Marie Schultz, historian and Gail Schaffer, parliamentarian. Each officer received a pin and a rose.

Next the duties of the chapter mother were read and games were played. Refreshments were served in the cafeteria and at this time the FHA members voted for their

Motor Club Head Endorses Safe-Driving Day Program

DRIVERS AND PEDESTRIANS in Monroe County and the area served by the Pocono Mountains Motor Club were urged yesterday by R. LeRoy Dengler, president of the club, to do their part toward contributing to the success of "Safe Driving Day," designated as Wednesday, Dec. 15.

Mr. Dengler has pledged the support of the local AAA club to the "S-D Day" program sponsored by President Eisenhower's Action Committee for Traffic Safety throughout the nation.

The Pocono Mountain Motor Club is one of the 57 AAA clubs throughout the Commonwealth with membership in the AAA Pennsylvania Motor Federation joining in support of the safety campaign designed to show motorists and pedestrians they can help in the reduction of traffic accidents through observance of traffic rules and regulations.

"Traffic accidents can be prevented or avoided if we all remember the simple rules for safety, use a little common sense and show consideration for others," Mr. Dengler stated.

"All too often," he declared, "accidents are made—they don't just happen. Each of us, to a certain extent, have it within ourselves to avoid or prevent accidents."

"Disregard to traffic regulations and safety rules, impatience and a lack of consideration for the rights of others can be blamed for probably all of the accidents which do occur," the official continued.

"In 'S-D Day' each of us—motorist and pedestrian alike—face a challenge," Mr. Dengler said. "Surely, we can get through a short 24-hour period without a single traffic mishap through our own determination to drive and walk safely."

In issuing the appeal to every man, woman and child in this area to drive and walk safely to assure the success of "S-D Day," Mr. Dengler pointed out that such precaution could give Monroe County and the surrounding communities the best record in Pennsylvania or in the nation.

chapter mother, Mrs. Schaffer having received the greater number of votes was duly elected the FHA chapter mother.

Heis Joins SPE During Help Week

ROBERT H. Heise, son of Henry F. Heise of Swiftwater, became a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity at the University of Maine during recent initiation ceremonies at Orno, Me.

Heise, a sophomore wildlife conservation major, participated in Sigma Phi Epsilon's annual help week as a part of his informal initiation.

He and 20 others in this year's pledge class completely repainted the old town jail, removed 35 yards of rock from the old town community playground, and assisted the old town fire department in rebuilding and repainting toys destined for underprivileged children at Christmas time.

Henry Weiss Reelected By Rod-Gun Club

GILBERT—Henry S. Weiss was elected to serve a third term as president at the regular meeting of the Indian Mountain Rod & Gun Club last night at Green Gables.

David Fleischman was named vice president, Arlington Smale as secretary and John W. Wernette, treasurer, to complete the slate of officers for 1955. It is also the third successive year in office for Smale.

The club will hold a membership drive in the near future. Defense bonds and other types of prizes will be awarded to those members bringing in the most newcomers. The November shoot was reported to have been very profitable to the group.

A three-man auditing committee was appointed. This includes Alex Traycheck, Joseph Revak and Wernette.

The next meeting is to be held Jan. 13 at the Lake House in Saylorsburg. At that meeting, the president will appoint committees for fish and game.

THERE were more calls for food relief throughout the world in the summer of 1954 than ever before in the history of the League of Red Cross Societies.

Andrews Opposes Cutback In Jobless Compensation

HARRISBURG, Dec. 9 (AP)—Rep. H. G. Andrews, the Democratic House leader, forecast today that the state's unemployment compensation law will soon fall below the legal danger point and that quick legislative action is imperative.

Andrews took a stand against what he called any "drastic cutback" in benefits and declared that in his opinion the fund "is in no jeopardy."

The Cambria County leader predicted that the Democratic party will seek amendment to the present law on the opening day of the 1955 Legislature, Jan. 4.

He estimated that by Jan. 1 the balance of the fund will be $6,634,722 below the "peril point" established by law. This would bring about a decrease in maximum benefits from $30 to $20 and drop the eligibility limit from 26 to 20 weeks. In addition it would raise the employers payroll tax share from an average 1.2 per cent to a maximum 2.7 per cent.

'Joan Of Lorraine' Selected For Production At College

MAXWELL ANDERSON'S "Joan of Lorraine" has been selected for Spring production by the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College drama department.

Ralph Smith, speech-instructor on the college faculty, will direct the play. He announced last night that tryouts for the cast will begin during the last two weeks of January.

The tryouts, Smith said, will be open to any member of the student body interested in dramatics.

"Joan of Lorraine" is Anderson's modern allegorical treatment of the Joan of Arc legend. Using the time-tested formula of the "play-within-a-play," Anderson built his drama around the effect of the story of Joan on an actress who is portraying the Maid of Orleans in a play.

Originally produced on Broadway five years ago, "Joan of Lorraine" was favorably received by the critics and enjoyed a sizable run. It served as a starring vehicle for Ingrid Bergman in her first appearance away from the motion picture cameras after she had appeared in a New York play and received good notices.

"Joan of Lorraine" is a serious drama, with spiritual and religious significance for the modern audience according to Anderson's own description.

The play will be presented for two performances on March 31 and April 1, Smith announced.

Dr. Thomas B. Mullen will be out of his office from Nov. 28 to Dec. 12, inclusive.—Adv.

Plane Crashes During Test; 20 Escape

HATBORO, Pa., Dec. 9 (AP)—A Navy Super Constellation, landing today at the Johnsville Naval Air Station after a radar test flight, struck a rough spot on a runway, overturned and caught fire.

All 20 of the occupants scrambled to safety. Thirteen were injured, none seriously. The plane, costing more than a million dollars was reported a total loss.

The plane, described by the Navy as a WV2 type, is a big species of the four-engine Constellation widely used by commercial airlines. The Navy has announced it is developing planes of this type for airborne radar work, and said the flight today from the Naval Air Development Unit at South Weymouth, Mass., was connected with radar work.

Two Killed On Route 22

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Dec. 9 (AP)—Two persons were killed today when their car skidded on an icy road and crashed into a tractor-trailer on Route 22 near Fogelsville, about seven miles west of Allentown.

The persons were identified as Lewis Francis Wheeler, 66, a retired technician from Elizabeth, N. J., and his wife.

Authorities said Wheeler's car skidded, crashed into the tractor-trailer, driven by Carson C. Middleton, 30, of Strasburg, Va., turned around several times and then crashed into the guard-rail posts. The driver and the passenger were both thrown from the car.

Lehigh County Coroner Clayton O. P. Werley said the couple apparently was on their way to visit relatives for the Christmas holidays.

Public Health Nurses Report 3,198 Visits During Year

W. H. Clark Re-elected To Presidency

MONROE COUNTY'S Public Health nurses rolled up 14,259 miles while making their 3,198 visits last fiscal year.

That was the report made at the annual meeting of Monroe County Organization Public Health Nursing at General Hospital, East Stroudsburg, last night.

The calls were made in connection with 433 separate cases. In addition to the calls, nurses taught 80 classes in infant care to 498 parents.

At election of officers William H. Clark was re-elected president; Mrs. Roger Dunning, vice-president; Mrs. Thomas E. Larkin, secretary; J. Joseph McCluskey, treasurer, and Paul J. Dellaria is still immediate past president.

Elected for three-year terms as directors were Mrs. Walter S. Peeney, Mrs. Howard S. Eckert, Mrs. Ruth Zettlemoyer, Mrs. George Stabenow, S. M. Monatt and R. L. Weichel. Named for one-year terms were Rabbi William Flervaker and Mrs. Howard Hock. New directors are Weichel and Monatt, Rabbi Flervaker and Mrs. Hock.

Mrs. Virginia DePuy remains in the post of executive director of the organization.

Nurses, in addition to Mrs. DePuy, are Ann M. Pettibone, Mrs. Marion Oyer, Mrs. Adelaide Murray and Mrs. Emma Reinhardt. Only full-time nurses are Mrs. DePuy and Miss Pettibone.

The treasurer's report showed total income of $12,706.54. This included $6,000 from the Community Chest; $2,184.25 in fees from patients; $91.20 in fees from Veterans Administration; $812.40 from Department of Public Assistance; $382 from American Cancer Society; and a cash balance at start of the year of $3,234.78.

Disbursements totaled $10,904.77. Major expenses were salaries, $8,757.80; mileage, $1,255.52; office equipment, $275.80; and rent, $240.

The service section of the annual report listed acute and chronic illnesses as responsible for 2,331 visits; TB and other communicable diseases accounting for 141; maternity cases and infant care, 196 visits; and other health supervision, such as pre-school, school and adult work, 540 visits.

Purpose of the organization is to care for the sick in their homes; prevent disease by teaching principles of health; and to promote individual family and community health.

Nursing care is given and visits continued under direction of the attending physician.

This is the type of service the nurses give: bath, alcohol rub, enema, special irrigation, surgical dressings, hypodermic injections, light physical therapy, teaching a member of the family to care for a patient; teaching parents to care for their baby; supervising the health needs of different age groups.

D-Y Contract Foes Granted Quiz Rights

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 (AP)—Tennessee Valley foes of the Dixon-Yates power contract won the right today to ask questions about private conversations among utility magnates which preceded the negotiation of the contract.

The Securities and Exchange Commission, which is passing on financial aspects of the contract, ruled that opposition attorneys may cross-examine Dixon-Yates witnesses on the conversations which led up to public negotiations with the Atomic Energy Commission.

It was a preliminary victory for foes of the contract who contend it was born of "interlocking relations" among private utilities in violation of the Utility Holding Company Act.

The AEC has contracted for the construction of a 106-million-dollar generating plant at West Memphis, Ark., to feed electricity into the lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority. The power would replace current TVA is furnishing to AEC installations.

It is proposed to have the plant built and operated by the Mississippi Valley Generating Co., whose stock would be owned by Middle South Utilities, Inc., and the Southern Co.

Middle South is headed by Edgar H. Dixon, and Eugene A. Yates is the head of Southern. The controversial contract gets its name from these two men.

The State of Tennessee and about 40 municipalities, power cooperatives and other organizations are fighting the contract as being against the public interest.

Under today's SEC ruling, Dixon was cross-examined at length about the beginnings of the project.

They are searching for her husband, Norman Nussler, an ex-convict, who disappeared shortly before police seized some 4,000 items, ranging from furs to gems, in their apartment.

Seven Billions In Surplus Farm Goods Now In Storage

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 (AP)—Uncle Sam's investment in surplus farm products stored under price support programs has climbed to a record high of nearly seven billion dollars.

The Agriculture Department reported today that the investment totaled $6,634,107,000 on Oct. 31. Additional commitments since that day, officials said, have pushed the amount close to the seven billion dollar level.

A year ago, the amount was $4,544,807,000.

Included in the investment as of Oct. 31 were $2,535,834,000 in loans advanced to farmers on grains, cotton, tobacco, and other products stored under price support programs and $4,108,273,000 in commodities owned outright by the department's Commodity Credit Corporation.

Commodities belonging to the department have been acquired through purchases under price support commitments and through surrender of commodities by growers in lieu of payment of price support loans.

The department also reported that it lost $189,924,722 in carrying out price support programs during the July-October period of this year.

This amount compares with $419,477,074 lost during the fiscal year ending last June 30.

Losses are incurred when the department sells commodities for less than it paid for them. This year's losses resulted from sale of surplus dairy products for less than cost.

Major items in the Oct. 31 inventory included: wheat $2,698,700,000, cotton $1,231,942,000, corn $1,167,471,000, butter $326,436,000, tobacco $260,046,000, and cheese $184,164,000.

Plant Fires Reluctant Witness

PHILIPSBURG, N.J., Dec. 9 (AP)—Ingersoll-Rand, Inc., announced today the immediate dismissal of one of its employees, Maurice K. Slater, who declined yesterday to answer questions before the McCarthy Senate subcommittee investigating Communist activity.

Slater, in declining to answer the questions, claimed the protection of the Fifth Amendment against possible self-incrimination. Ingersoll-Rand, in a statement late today, said his employment has been terminated, adding, "We believe his conduct has been harmful to the business interests of the company and its employees."

Slater is a former business manager of Local 451 United Electrical Workers (Ind) union which represents employees at the plant.

The Policy Committee of the union met today and later announced it would file a grievance against firing Slater, which, the committee said, would be "processed to the limit." The committee said the UE is "unalterably opposed to such union-busting methods" and would demand the reinstatement of Slater "with all his rights."

Meanwhile, across the river in Easton, Pa., Harold Allen, who also invoked the Fifth Amendment in his appearance before the subcommittee, was suspended by the Lehigh Foundries Inc., today "pending a full investigation of the situation."

Allen is a member of the CIO United Steel Workers as are several others who declined to answer questions put to them by the Senate group.

The USW Policy Committee has scheduled a meeting to decide what steps will be taken regarding members who invoke the Fifth Amendment under such circumstances.

Fumes Take Two Lives; Third Ill

MINERSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 8 (AP)—A mother and her daughter were found dead in bed here today with the woman's husband gasping for breath nearby in their fume-filled home.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Helen Borelli, 38, and her daughter, Helen Marie, 7, Bernard Borelli, about 40, was rushed to Pottsville Hospital, where doctors listed his condition as critical.

Police Chief Reynard Thomas of Minersville said the woman was employed in a pajama factory.

When she failed to report for work today the manager, Milton Bergstein, tried unsuccessfully several times to reach her by telephone.

After the day's work at the factory, Bergstein went to the Borelli home, the police chief said, and found the three Borellis.

Thomas said apparently a chimney became clogged up and filled the home with fumes.

Borelli was an idle coal mine employee. His daughter was a first grader at a Minersville school.

Elks Arrange Details For Jernick Visit

EAST Stroudsburg Lodge of Elks has completed preparations for the official visit of William J. Jernick, of Nutley, N. J., grand exalted ruler, next Wednesday night.

M. Russell Imbt, chairman of arrangements, said last night that tickets for the dinner at 6 p.m. which will precede the night meeting at 8, have been exhausted. A steak dinner will be served.

Indications, Imbt said, are that many visiting Elks from other lodges in the Northeast Pennsylvania district will attend the night session. Mr. Jernick's visit will be the first of a grand exalted ruler to the local lodge in many years.

Announcement was made by Fred H. Rhodes, chairman, the annual Christmas kiddie party would be held in the lodge room Tuesday, Dec. 21, at 7 p.m. Santa Claus will be on hand and the young guests will be treated with ice cream and cookies. Movies will be shown.

The charity committee of the lodge, M. Russell Imbt Jr., chairman, will distribute baskets of food to needy families the morning before Christmas.

Arthur E. Kitzman, entertainment committee chairman, said plans were completed for the annual New Year Eve party for Elks, their ladies and friends. There will be dancing from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m., music for which will be furnished by John Altieri's band.

College Chorus To Broadcast Yule Program

"CHRISTMAS in Many Lands," a musical program by the students of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, will be broadcast over WVPO on Wednesday, Dec. 15 at 1:30 p.m.

Students in the college chorus, under the direction of Dr. William Graham, will sing Christmas carols of French, Dutch, Swedish, and German origin; and Bill Staples, a sophomore at the college, will describe the customs in celebrating Christmas popular to each of these countries.

Research on Christmas customs was contributed by George Barna, a junior who is majoring in English and minoring in speech.

The six sopranos who will sing are Kathy Merz, Kay Jones, Marie La Tourette, Louise Fuge, Carol Perkins, and Joan Kerns. Miss Perkins will solo in "Babe in Bethlehem."

Altos in the group are Nancy Marshall, Virginia Ross, Carol Sue Underwood, Mary Jane Stimmel, Harriet Ganaventi, and Joan Dowling.

Three tenors—Bill Pfeiffer, Sidney Morrison, and James Richner—are supported by four basses: Russel Roger, Richard Schell, Phil O'Neil, and Edward Fisher.

Accompanist for the group is Sandra Schappal, a junior who has been playing for the chorus for several years.

THE COVERED dish supper held at the Pocono Township School on Monday night, Dec. 6, under the sponsorship of the Music Boosters was well attended and much enjoyed by parents and students. After same, the group met at eight o'clock in a brief business meeting. The good of the order prize was awarded Mrs. Charles James. The band entertained in a few numbers and there was group singing of Christmas carols, led by Barbara James and Norbert Vishnefsky.

The next meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association of the Pocono Township School will be on Tuesday night, Dec. 21, and the program will be arranged around the theme "Christmas in Music," with Mrs. Rees in charge. It is hoped to have Rev. William E. Foose as guest speaker for that occasion.

On Monday night, Dec. 6, members of the Women's Guild of Grace E. & Ref. Church held a business meeting at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Starnier, with eleven present. Accounts and business for the year was wound up and proper reports made out. On the 27th of Dec., the group will hold a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. John Smith.

On Tuesday night, April 7, the P.O. of A. held a brief business meeting at the Lodge Hall. One new member was welcomed into the organization. They then adjourned to the nearby home of Mrs. Lizzie Butz, who is still confined to her home on crutches, where they held their Christmas party. A covered dish supper was enjoyed and there was exchange of gifts, secret pal gifts and a jolly time was enjoyed by the fourteen members attending.

Pope Show Continued Improvement

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 9 (AP)—Medical experts announced tonight Pope Pius XII is gaining strength, his hiccupping has ceased and his general condition has improved perceptibly.

The 78-year-old pontiff underwent a two-hour examination—his second in a week of grave illness—that brought fears for his life—by three specialists and his personal physician, Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi.

"As foreseen, the state of health of the Holy Father has improved perceptibly and progressively in the last few days," the doctors' bulletin said.

"Disturbances have disappeared, among them the hiccupping, and it was possible gradually to resume direct feeding, which has permitted a satisfactory recovery of strength."

"Restful sleep, in part, has returned. The conditions of the cardiac-circulatory and respiratory systems remain good, as well as the blood condition."

"The abdomen is normal everywhere and is no longer painful in its right superior quadrant. This pain, together with the sudden painful tension of the abdomen, had caused serious preoccupations. We believe it opportune to suspend the intravenous injections of amino acids, while it will be possible to make some other infusion of plasma."

"We will insist, however, on the therapy of injections of liver extract and vitamins. Feeding will be regulated precisely, following an opportune diet, after a new, accurate examination of the gastric juices. Any other therapy for the moment will have to remain in abeyance."

"To the Holy Father we commend continued rest. As soon as the condition of the Holy Father will permit, we will make an accurate examination of the digestive tubes. Therefore, news that has appeared in various newspapers with the most disparate diagnoses of the illness of the Holy Father is to be considered arbitrary."

The bulletin was signed by Galeazzi-Lisi; Prof. Antonio Gasbarini, a nutrition expert from Bologna; Prof. Raffaele Paolucci di Valmaggiore, a noted surgeon; and Dr. Paul Niehans, a Swiss hormone specialist.

The pontiff again today took small amounts of food by mouth and, supported by Galeazzi-Lisi, had another short walk in his chamber. The doctor explained the walks were ordered as a precaution against pneumonia, a danger to persons abed for long periods. He said the Pope suffered some catarrh yesterday, but that the condition had eased.

Teen-Agers Hold Game Sessions

TANNERSVILLE — On Tuesday night, Dec. 7, some forty teen-agers met at the firehouse, where various games such as checkers, chess, Keeno and others were enjoyed. Due to the preponderance of school activities for the next few weeks, the group decided to have their next meeting somewhere near Easter, at which time they plan to have a dance as their opening 1955 social affair. Officers of the teen-agers group and the adult advisors for same will hold a meeting on Friday, Dec. 10 after school at the home of Mrs. Fred Kresge Sr. Mrs. Fred Metzgar and Mrs. Fred Kresge were chaperons for the above game meeting. The group enjoyed a jolly evening and much appreciation was expressed by various members for the games so generously donated by many merchants in the county.

The newly organized Lions club held a dinner meeting at the Tannersville Inn on Tuesday night, Dec. 7, at which there were twenty-two present. They received seven new members at this meeting. The meeting was conducted by the president, Edward Kahalac. It was in the nature of an organizational meeting, with Walter Hicks, District Deputy Governor of District 14K, special representative E. Moyer of Lions International from Schuylkill Haven, Dist. Governor Elmer Johnson, present. There was a nice group representing the West End Club, including the president and secretary. Charter Night has been set for the latter part of January, exact date to be announced later.

The next meeting will be held Dec. 14, at the Tannersville Inn, same to be a dinner meeting at seven o'clock.

Denmark Cuts Army Service

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 9 (AP)—Denmark, one of the NATO nations, announced today it is reducing the period of compulsory military service from 18 to 16 months. The reduction, effective at once, was described as part of an economy drive.

Earlier this year Belgium and the Netherlands reduced such service from 20 to 18 months. The United States requires two years of most draftees.

Five Seamen Perish

PARIS, France, Dec. 10 (AP)—A small Dutch coal carrier identified as the Ariel sank in a heavy Atlantic storm off the French coast last night. Five crewmen perished.

11 Democratic Congress Leaders Hold Key To Administration Program Next Two Years

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Eleven key Democratic leaders of Congress probably will determine whether the next two years of the Eisenhower administration will be a period of success or frustration.

They are the men with whom a Republican President must do business when the Democratic 84th Congress convenes Jan. 5.

Topping the list is Congressman Sam Rayburn of Texas, who will resume the seat he has held longer than any other man in American history, that of Speaker of the House.

"Mr. Sam," as he is known in his Texas district, has been a member of the House uninterruptedly since March 4, 1913, longer than anyone else now serving on Capitol Hill. His prestige and influence in congressional and national party circles is great.

In the Senate, no one man has the overall strength that Rayburn does in the House, but Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, a protégé of "Mr. Sam," will command attention as majority leader.

It is in the committees that the success or failure of President Eisenhower's legislative program will be largely determined. Four powerful men each in the House and Senate will wield the power there. They are the chairmen of the most influential committees, where legislation will either be born or will die, the latter quite often without formal burial.

In the House, these men are Clarence Cannon, Missouri, appropriations; Carl Vinson, Georgia, armed services; Howard W. Smith, Virginia, rules, and Jere Cooper, Tennessee, ways and means. In the Senate, they are Carl Hayden, Arizona, appropriations; Richard B. Russell, Georgia, armed services; Harry F. Byrd, Virginia, finance, and Walter F. George, Georgia, foreign relations.

It is noteworthy that in the list of key leaders three states predominate—Texas, Georgia and Virginia.

As chairmen of their respective appropriations committees, Representative Cannon and Senator Hayden will keep a sharp guard over the government's purse strings.

Without funds a government cannot operate. It is to these men that the administration must look primarily for its money. Their influence within their committees is enormous.

Two Georgians — Representative Vinson and Senator Russell — will command the unflinching respect of the military services for the next two years. Both men are well known to the Pentagon brass for their years of previous service as head of these two great committees. When either man beckons, four-star generals and admirals, as well as their civilian chiefs, will hasten to Capitol Hill.

Senator Byrd and Representative Cooper will keep their eyes sharply focused on the nation's fiscal affairs. The Tennessee congressman, taking over the potent House ways and means committee for the first time, is a liberal, in sharp contrast to his Virginia senatorial colleague, who is one of the Senate's foremost conservatives. The two committees handle legislation affecting taxes, social security and trade.

The venerable Walter F. George of Georgia, the Senate's No. 1 member in seniority, will take over the influential foreign relations committee. He is a strong advocate of a bipartisan foreign program and generally commands great respect among his colleagues. Congressman Smith of Virginia will assume control over the House rules committee, a 12-member group which often drove Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman to distraction.

Smith is a prominent conservative who wields great influence among southern members. He has the power to bottle up, if he wishes, virtually all major Senate and House legislation, since most bills must clear the rules committee before they can reach the floor for a vote.

In addition to these, Congressman John McCormack of Massachusetts will be a strong influence in the House because of his position as majority leader there.

The President will, of course, rely heavily during the next two years for advice and counsel upon such Republican leaders as Congressman Joe Martin of Massachusetts, who is stepping down as House speaker; Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, the present House majority leader; Senator William F. Knowland, who will probably serve as GOP leader in the Senate; Senator Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, who may head the Senate Republican policy committee, and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who will continue to preside over the upper chamber in 1955 and 1956.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 9 (AP)—All state employees under the control of Gov. John S. Fine today were given Friday, Dec. 24, the day before Christmas, and New Year's Day, Jan. 1, off from work.

CIO Counsel Claims Plot Against Unions

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9 (AP)—The CIO's chief attorney said today an "unconstructed" group of employers is pressing a drive to "cripple" labor unions by bringing them under the antitrust laws.

Arthur J. Goldberg, CIO general counsel, told a law conference held in connection with the CIO convention, that applying antitrust laws to labor unions was designed to "destroy or weaken" them and to break up national unions and industry-wide bargaining.

The conference was attended by both employer and union attorneys, law school professors and labor arbitrators.

Goldberg said an advisory committee named by Atty. Gen. Brownell is studying possible revision of the antitrust laws including a proposal to remove a present labor union exemption.

"Those who are pushing down this road and who I fear will push much harder in the months to come," Goldberg said, "are not employer representatives who genuinely subscribe to a desire for satisfactory relations with unions, but the same unconstructed fringe which basically regards all unions as evil and wishes to return to conditions which existed in the 1920s."

Goldberg said previous unsuccessful legislation seeking to apply antitrust laws to unions has not been aimed at barring unions and employers from cooperating to the public's disadvantage. He said the proposals have always sought primarily to "destroy or limit the economic power of unions to deal with management."

Convention delegates approved a resolution asking Congress to investigate the "present and prospective impact of technological developments on our economy." It

Shrine Club Sets Date For Party

THE POCONO Shrine Club will hold its annual Christmas party at the Beaver House Dec. 13 at 6:30 p. m. This affair was moved up a week from the previous date. Special entertainment will feature the party. Each couple may bring another couple member or guest. A door prize will be awarded and gifts provided for the ladies.

The Pocono club is under the jurisdiction of Ir. Wilkes-Barre.

said that automatic machines and new production techniques are displacing workers at a rapid rate. "The facts allow no room for the illusion that expansion of employment in the manufacture of the revolutionary machines will compensate to any substantial degree for contraction of employment in industries using them," this resolution said.

Endorsing the guaranteed annual wage plan which the CIO is trying to obtain in the auto industry next year, the convention said: "Guaranteed wage plans can provide financial protection by maintaining living standards to aid displaced unemployed workers in making necessary adjustments."

James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, said in a convention speech that full employment for workers would increase purchasing power and the demand for farm products.

"We do not have an overproduction of food," he said. "We have an under consumption of groceries. An extra glass of milk a day to each school child would wipe out our dairy surplus."

Now Appearing Every Day In

The Daily Record

The Hour Every Motorist Owes to Himself!

The happy man you see in this picture is bringing himself up to date.

Cadillac has written a whole new chapter for the book defining motor car performance, and he's taking an hour to find out what it says.

And it says plenty—of very great importance.

First of all, it tells you what it's like to have command of a 250-horsepower engine that's as smooth as velvet, and so quick and eager that you have to educate your driving toe all over again.

It tells you what it's like to have virtually every trace of unevenness in the highway completely eliminated before it is even noticeable to driver or to passengers.

And it tells you what it's like to relax amidst upholstery fabrics that are found nowhere else, save in the 1955 Cadillac—not even in the finest clubs or hotels.

All this is to say, of course, that Cadillac has made another tremendous advance in design and engineering—so great, in fact, that only a drive and a personal inspection can let you realize its significance.

And, naturally, in addition to all that is new—there is yet greater emphasis on all the long-existing Cadillac virtues:

—the endurance that enables a Cadillac owner to keep his car just as long as he elects to do so . . . and with complete confidence in its dependability—

—the amazing economy of operation and upkeep which causes many owners to maintain that it is the most economical car on the American highway—

—the great personal satisfaction that comes from owning a car which is recognized, wherever highways lead, as the Standard of the World.

We cordially invite you to come in—today—to see and drive this wonderful, wonderful car.

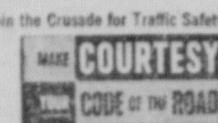

There are eight models—in four different series—including the sensational Eldorado.

There is one to please you—exactly. And we think you'll be surprised and delighted at how little it costs, in comparison with lesser cars.

We're waiting for you—now!

Historical Society Museum To Be Expanded, Directors Learn; Winter Dates Set

The Monroe County Historical Society museum will be expanded to include two more rooms, now being vacated by the Monroe County Public Library, it was announced at the meeting of the executive board held on Wednesday afternoon at the museum.

Mrs. Horace G. Walters, past president of the society and a member of the committee named by Dr. Nathan G. Meyer, president, to study expansion. The committee met with the Monroe County Commissioners, who agreed to the proposed expansion.

The Historical Society museum now occupies two rooms on the first floor of the Stroud Community House and the basement. The library rooms, located just across the hall from the museum rooms on the first floor, will provide not only for better display of material already being exhibited but will also permit the Historical Society to be more convenient for research students to study.

Dr. Meyer presided at the meeting. Mrs. Gerald Heller, secretary, reported that there are 124 paid memberships for the year. Five persons were voted into membership by the board: Mrs. Mary DePuy Cottle, 107 Eighth St., Stroudsburg; Gerald Snyder, 99 Prospect St., East Stroudsburg; Mrs. George Marsh, Analomink St., East Stroudsburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Haigh, 509 Scott St., Stroudsburg.

Dr. Robert Brown suggested that the society purchase 1,000 brochures containing historical material edited by Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler. The financial report showed that the society now had $333.39 in its treasury.

Plans were made for the annual winter meetings. The annual business meeting will be held January 8, and the annual dinner meeting on January 13, at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Guest speaker at the dinner will be John Cartwright, superintendent of schools of Allentown, on "The Geology of Monroe County." Mr. Cartwright is a former principal of Stroudsburg High School.

Dr. John C. Appel, a member of the faculty of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, will present books to the Junior Historical Societies of the county at the dinner, it was announced. He is the author of the book selected by the board and is donating one to each society.

Dr. Meyer named Mrs. E. H. Calkins to assist Roger Dunning with reservations for the banquet. He also appointed Earl Groner, Dr. Robert Brown and Mrs. Horace G. Walters to serve as a nominating committee. A president, vice president and four directors will be elected at the next meeting.

Dr. Brown presented books and booklets given to the historical society by Mrs. Althea Staples, for which the society gave her a vote of thanks.

Present at the board meeting were Dr. Nathan Meyer, president; Mrs. Elwood Grant, Mrs. Horace Walters, Miss Miriam Lark, Roger Dunning, Mrs. E. H. Calkins, Mrs. Robert Haigh, Mrs. Gerald Heller, Mrs. Chester H. Rhodes and Dr. Robert Brown.

Daughters To Take Part In Program

Portland—The Girl Scout daughters of members of the Portland Woman's Club will present the story of "The Carols" at the meeting of the club on Tuesday at 8 at the Baptist Church. An earlier story included all the Girl Scouts.

A representative of the TB Christmas Seal Drive in Easton will be present to tell the story of the Christmas Seal.

Farewell For Dorcas Circle Former Members

The Dorcas Circle of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church will meet tonight at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Carlyle Huffman, Marshalls Creek.

It will be in the nature of a farewell party for the circle members who have been changed to other circles in the annual redistribution of membership of the Women's Auxiliary of the church. The new members of the Dorcas circle will not meet with the group until the next meeting.

WCTU Friday

The East Stroudsburg branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will meet Friday night at 7:30 at the home of Miss Christine Christensen, 55 Ransberry Ave., East Stroudsburg.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

The first snow storm of the season was sort of a fizzle. Ice on the car windows, a little slipping and sliding at stop lights, a few moments of snow, and the rest slush. Even the youngsters couldn't get excited about that.

Mrs. Levering is excited about the Community Concert tonight, though. What with the change in artists, and the threat of winter weather it's going to be sort of a surprise party—but, a pleasant one.

Pleasant, too, is the news about the Historical Society Museum. The ghosts of the Strouds can feel right at home what with the whole first floor to be filled with treasures of the past.

Memories of the past are being revived in various groups, too, I notice. The Sunshine Class at this season of the year was thinking fondly of Mrs. Maude Stem, their former teacher in her new home.

Some of the circles of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church are having farewell parties for each other. Circles, in case you are slightly dizzy about them, are small groups within large church groups, who can work together more efficiently than in their big parent group.

Well, some churches re-group the circles each year so that all the members get to know each other better. Of course as a group that has worked harmoniously together for a whole year is broken up, there's a certain amount of weeping and wailing. Though the next year it's the new group that hates to give up its associations.

Sunshine Class Party Held At E. S. Church

The Sunshine Class of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church met on Tuesday night at the church with Mrs. Vernon Garis presiding. She read the Christmas story from the Bible. There were carols sung.

Mrs. Walter Brown gave a reading, "The Keeper of the Inn." Mrs. Garis read about Christmas customs and songs of other lands and also read a letter from Bobbie Hartman, acknowledging the receiving blankets the society had sent.

The members all signed Christmas greeting cards to Mrs. Maude Stem, the former teacher, and shut-in members of the class. Mrs. Cyrus Smith, who teaches the class on alternate Sundays, spoke briefly.

The class voted to give a point-to-point for the Christmas decorations at the church in honor of Mrs. Stem.

Gifts were exchanged; secret pals were revealed and new pals were chosen. Refreshments were served at tables decorated in Christmas colors with snowman favors at each place. Miss Helen Grant and her committee served.

Community Chorus Lists Two Concerts

The Stroudsburg Community Chorus will present two concerts of sacred Christmas music Sunday, Dec. 12. Dr. Willhoite is director of the group which is composed of 60 voices.

The first concert will be given at 4 p. m. in Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg. The same group repeats the program at Stroudsburg Methodist Church at 7:30 p. m.

Revs. Wingerter, Eaton, Savage, Hostetter and Wunder will participate at Grace Church. East Stroudsburg in the afternoon and Revs. Bollier, Blatt and Stinson at the Methodist Church at night.

All music lovers of the area are cordially invited to attend either of the identical concerts by the Stroudsburg Community Chorus.

College Student To Take Part In PTA Program

Elias Getz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Getz of 1155 West Main St., Stroudsburg, will participate in a program before the Clearview Parent-Teachers Association of Stroud Township on Monday night, December 13. The general topic of the discussion will be "Brotherhood and the United Nations." The subject of Mr. Getz's part in the program will be "An Appraisal of the Accomplishments of the United Nations."

Getz transferred from Dickinson College to East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. His major fields of interest are political science and economics. He hopes to return to Dickinson at the end of the present semester.

Membership Clinic At County PTA

Surprising ramifications grew out of the round table clinic on "PTA Membership" featured at the meeting of the Monroe Council of Parents and Teachers on Wednesday night at the Clearview School.

Mrs. James Kitchen, county president, presided at the meeting at which 10 different PTA units were represented. Reports were given on the state convention and on the school of instruction held since the last council meeting.

The program, arranged by Robert Hellmann featured lively discussion on PTA membership. The flaws and rewards of seeking for 100 per cent membership of all parents in the school started the discussion. The value of working members who joined because of interest and the value of members who just joined because of pressure were compared. The group decided that in the long run quantity of membership led to improved quality of membership.

Another question that led to spirited discussion was the one on whether teachers should be required to attend PTA meetings. This led to the whole range of community obligations expected of teachers and of the teachers' points of view in regard to the community, to their place in it, and to how far a teachers salary could stretch.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by the Clearview representatives.

HATTIE CARNEGIE'S tan imported "harvest tweed" suit was designed for fall and winter, 1954-55. The jacket is designed with a convertible collar that buttons into a roll, and with Y-shaped under-shoulder pockets. The fabric is striped and nubby in both pattern and texture.

Christmas Party For Anna Logans

The annual Christmas social of the Ann Logan Society of the General Hospital will be held on Monday night at 8 at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

The society will take a respite from their many projects, with no reports and no business meeting scheduled. However, members are asked to bring in their orders for the Ann Logan Birthday Calendar, which also include organization, meeting dates so that the calendars can be delivered before the new year.

The members of the General Hospital Auxiliary have been invited to attend the meeting. The officers of Ann Logan will be in charge of both entertainment and refreshments which were planned at an executive board meeting held at the home of the president, Mrs. Horace Butler, Thomas Street.

The board also decided on an innovation this year. Instead of bringing a 50-cent gift for exchange as they have in the past, members are asked to bring 50 cents which will be used for the United Nations International Children's Fund to purchase medicine, provide medical and health services for children all over the world.

Roger Altomose Celebrates 16th Birthday

Poccano Lake—A gala birthday party was enjoyed recently by Roger Altomose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Altomose, Poccano Lake, on his 16th birthday.

Those who celebrated with him were: Gloria Franks, Joan Berger, Lois Coleman, Esther Smith, George Dyson, Joe DeSanto, Harry Constanzo Jr., Franklin and Arthur Altomose and the guest of honor.

Games were followed by a candlelight luncheon. Roger received many gifts.

Democratic Women Have 125 At Party

The Democratic Women's Club had about 125 members and friends present for the annual Christmas party held on Wednesday night at the Odd Fellows Hall.

Sheriff Jacob Altomose, Democratic County Chairman, announced plans for local participation in the inauguration of Governor-elect Leader in Harrisburg on January 18. A number of busses will be run from Monroe County to Harrisburg for the events, and reservations should be made with Sheriff Altomose.

Mrs. Floyd Butz, president, presided at the short business meeting. A donation of $5 was voted for the Tuberculosis Society. Mrs. Butz announced that the new officers would be installed by Mrs. Willita Rogalski, executive member of the Pennsylvania Federation of Democratic Women at the January meeting.

Officers to be installed at that time include: president, Mrs. Harold Edwards; first vice president, Mrs. Ella Mae Shaw; second vice president, Mrs. Floyd Dellavien; third vice president, Mrs. William Warner; fourth vice president, Mrs. Jacob Altomose; treasurer, Mrs. James Albert; secretary, Mrs. Kenneth Carlton.

Mrs. Clara Friedman was accompanist for the carol sing by the club. A social time was enjoyed. The club rooms had been elaborately decorated for the party with Christmas greens, a white tree and Santa Claus as main attractions. The table had as its centerpiece a sleigh with Santa and red candles, flanked by Christmas greens, snowmen and reindeer with miniature Christmas trees extending the length of the table.

Hostesses were Miss Verna Mansfield, Mrs. Howard Eckert, Mrs. William Friedman, Mrs. William Warner and Mrs. W. A. Rogalski.

Kulp-Patchen Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Patchen of Stroudsburg announce the engagement of their daughter, Olive Elizabeth, to John Reiman Kulp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Kulp of Stroudsburg.

Miss Patchen is a graduate of Stroudsburg High School in the class of 1946. She is employed by the Bell Telephone Co., of Stroudsburg. Mr. Kulp attended East New York Vocational School, and served in the United States Navy during the last war. He is employed by the Kulp Foundry of Stroudsburg.

A late March wedding is planned.

Girl Scout Caroling On December 22

The Intermediate Girl Scout Planning Board of the county mapped plans for their annual caroling service to be held Wednesday, December 22 at a meeting held at the Girl Scout House last week. The Scouts plan to meet at the Girl Scout House at 7:30 on December 22 and will carol in front of the Penn-Stroud Hotel, returning to the Scout House about 9 p. m. Miss Alice Bellairs will direct the carol singing.

Gale Kaiser is president of the county planning board and Sylvia Smith is scribe. There were 20 planning board representatives present for the meeting out of a possible 24.

Members of the County Intermediate Planning board are: Colleen Lessig, Grace Cairns, Troop 5; Stroudsburg; Linda Hay and Judy Rhodes, Troop 18, Stroudsburg; Cynthia Reimer and Jo Anne Scott, Troop 27, Portland; Diane Witcraft, Mary Sittig, Troop 33, Shawnee; Sandra Edelmann, Shirley Metzgar, troop 14, East Stroudsburg; Linda Robbins, Troop 9, East Stroudsburg; Glydia York, Troop 36, Stroudsburg; Gail Kaiser, Beth Dening, Troop 12, Stroudsburg; Sylvia Smith, Troop 38, Stroudsburg; Ruth Price, Marianna Stirr, Troop 24, Canadensis; Ruth Ann Smith, Troop 13, East Stroudsburg; Patricia Lou Harps, Connie Harps, Mount Poccono; Trina Marsh, Paula Wagner, Troop 10, Stroudsburg; and Gretchen Weiss and Pamela Tittle, Stroudsburg troop which has not been assigned a number.

Madrigal To Sing At Womans Club

The Stroudsburg Woman's Club will hold its Christmas meeting in the Community House on Monday at 2:15. Mrs. William Levering will be in charge of the program arranged by Numa Snyder who will bring seventeen of his Madrigal Singers of Stroudsburg High School to present the following program:

"Wassail Song", a Gloucestershire carol arranged by Katherine Davies; "Covenant Carol", from a 16th. century pageant, arranged by Tom Scott; "O, Little Town of Bethlehem", traditional English melody, arranged by Katherine Davis; "I Wonder as I Wander", arranged by John Jacob Niles and followed by a soprano solo by Sue Neitch.

The concluding numbers will be, "And the Trees Do Moan", a carol of the Mountain whites, arranged by Harvey Gaul; "Hark, Bethlehem", a Polish carol arranged by Gwynn Bement, and "Silent Night", by Franz Gruber.

The sopranos are Sue Neitch, Laureen Flagler, Ann Shaffer and Phyllis Groner; the altos, Kay Shook, Martha Williams, Betty Bender and Margaret Herma; the tenors, Tom Metzgar, Mickey Michelfelder, Doug Jones and Bob Haigh; the bass will be sung by John Willhoite, Ken Lee, Bob Staples and Jim Marsh.

Mrs. E. H. Calkins Sr., will give the invocation. A social get-together will follow the musical program with tea prepared by the hostesses: Mrs. F. J. Trumbour, Mrs. Merle Ostrom, Mrs. Montgomery Crowe and Mrs. Gerald P. O'Neill. Decorations are in charge of Mrs. John C. Glasson, fine arts chairman, assisted by Mrs. Bernard R. Peters.

Kitchen arithmetic: Use 2 cups of grated cheddar cheese (1 1/2 pound) with 2 cups of medium white sauce when you want a cheese sauce for cauliflower, broccoli, onions, cabbage or asparagus. These proportions are also good to use when you want a cheese sauce for cooked ham, leftover chicken or turkey or sliced hard-cooked eggs.

Like crispy fish fillets? Then dip the fillets in corn meal before frying to a golden brown. Use a half cup of corn meal for a pound of the fillets.

Bring A Friend the treats on us today, tomorrow & Sunday!
